

WINE TILL

Wine Till is the complete stock management and invoicing tool.

Wine Till is a server-based product that does not need state of the art servers to run.

Stock can be ordered and tracked through the system ensuring that Purchase Orders are managed from the point of ordering to the delivery times. This functionality enables the user to see exactly what stock has been ordered, delivered or is still outstanding, as well as monitoring half deliveries. Invoices are created on any sales and delivery notes can be created for both stock transfers and sales.

Suppliers' details can be set up and orders are e-mailed directly to the relevant person as you place the order, ensuring speed and accuracy.

The user can create different stock items with a range of prices to cater for different pricing brackets. The user is able to move stock items between stores with absolute ease, and with the confidence that the entire process is traceable.

The integrated point of sale with touch screen capability makes the sales processed easy and manageable with stock sold directly accounted for. You have the ability to sell stock from different stock storage as well as consignment areas. The POS also boasts a barcode scanner and card reader.

Clients can be created and maintained to ensure you are looking after your best clients, with the possibility of creating VIP members with special rates and privileges. You can track what clients have been buying by quality or by amount spent.

Stock can be pre-allocated to certain clients, allowing you to keep your promises to valuable clients and manage current available stock. Stock on consignment is kept separate from other stock available ensuring you are only selling available stock.

The production of goods can be set up in the system allowing you to manage separate bottling and labelling runs. A separate Bill of Materials (BOM) is set up for each product that your business sells, and you are able to assign items that make up the product, e.g. bottle types and label preferences. These items are then deducted from the stock when bottling or labelling runs are done.

The range of reports cover industry Norm reports. As each business is unique, Wineware caters for business specific reports, making the system an integral part of your business.

The Wine Till is a flexible and adaptable stock management tool, and one that can be altered and expanded to suit your specific requirements.
